AFFIDAVIT

STATE OF CALIFORNIA)
COUNTY OF SAN DIEGO) ss.

On August 2, 2004, employees of Radiology Medical Group, Inc. (RMGI) contacted the U.S. Postal Inspection Service (USPIS) and advised that they had been receiving Express Mail packages returned to their address as undeliverable which had not been mailed by RMGI. When they opened the packages, they discovered prescription pharmaceuticals inside. RMGI employees provided three packages to the USPIS, all of which bore the return address of "RMGI, 6699 Alvarado, SD, CA, 92120." One package contained 160 tablets of Ativan, another contained 90 tablets of Tafil and the other contained 90 tablets of Valium. Ativan, Tafil and Valium are all prescription pharmaceuticals. The tablets were placed in plastic inside the Express Mail envelope, with no other documentation.

On August 3, 2004, a Postal Inspector identified 71 Express Mail parcels at the U.S. Post Office on Midway Drive in San Diego being mailed to various locations within the United States with a return address of "RMGI, 6699 Alvarado, SD, CA." These packages were secured, pending further contact with RMGI employees.

On August 4, 2004, the USPIS was contacted again by RMGI employees, who had received three more Express Mail parcels being returned to them as undeliverable at the 6699 Alvarado address. RMGI employees had opened the boxes and found them to contain pharmaceuticals. RMGI employees provided these parcels to the USPIS, and consented to an inspection of the 71 secured parcels with the RMGI return address.

The USPIS opened the 71 parcels and inventoried the contents, as well as the contents of the additional three parcels provided by RMGI. All contained pharmaceuticals that require a prescription by a licensed physician before these pharmaceuticals can be obtained. None of the pharmaceuticals were packaged in the manufacturer's containers, but instead were wrapped in plastic.

1 On August 4, 2004, USPIS employees identified an additional 50 Express Mail parcels with the 2 return address of "RMGI, 6699 Alvarado, SD, CA" at the U.S. Post Office on Midway Drive in San 3 Diego. The Express Mail stamps were purchased at the Midway Post Office at approximately 2:45 p.m., 4 using a MasterCard. Records from the bank issuing the credit card indicated that it was issued to 5 Alberto Vazquez, 1251 Del Sol Way, San Diego, California. The Postal Inspectors also obtained the 6 film from the surveillance camera at the Midway Post Office that was trained on the window at the Post
7 Office where the Express Mail parcels were purchased, which depict the purchaser as a Hispanic male, 8 5'10" tall, approximately 175 lbs., with short dark hair and glasses. The RMGI employees advised that 9 they did not mail these 50 additional parcels.

10 The 50 parcels were opened and inventoried by the USPIS. All contained pharmaceuticals that 11 require a prescription by a licensed physician before these pharmaceuticals can be obtained. None of 12 the pharmaceuticals were packaged in the manufacturer's containers, but instead were wrapped in 13 plastic. During the period from July 30, 2004, through March 30, 2005, the USPIS identified 14 approximately 1,600 Express mail parcels with the return address of 6699 Alvarado, SD, CA.

15 The USPIS attempted delivery of some of the Express Mail packages. One recipient in Chandler, 16 Arizona, advised that he had ordered pharmaceuticals from an internet pharmacy and was expecting an 17 order. He consented to the opening of the parcel, which contained nine blister packs of 10 red tablets
18 each, containing Cionazepan, a prescription drug. The blister pack was lettered solely in the Spanish 19 language. The recipient provided the Postal Inspectors with documentation of his purchase of the 20 pharmaceuticals from OnePharmacyWorld.com. Two separate recipients in Chicago, Illinois, consented 21 to the opening of parcels containing the prescription drug Ritalin, which they had each ordered from 22 OnePharmacyWorld.com. A recipient in San Diego advised that he ordered Xanax from 23 OnePharmacyWorld.com, although the package contained Tafil, which was labeled solely in Spanish.

24 On September 15, 2004, Postal Inspectors placed an order for 100 tablets of the prescription drug
25 Soma (carisoprodal) from the internet website OnePharmacyWorld.com, without providing evidence
26 of a prior prescription. The website requested information on the specific medical reason for ordering 27 the medication so that the "physician" will "know the exact nature of your medical problem in order to 28 prescribe this medication." On September 30, 2004, Postal Inspectors received an Express mail package

1 at the undercover address used to place the order with OnePharmacyWorld with the return address of 2 "6699 Alvarado, SD, CA." Inside the parcel was a ziploc bag wrapped in plastic wrap containing 3 100 white tablets with MP58 scored on them. There was no paperwork in the envelope and no evidence 4 of a prescription.

5 On November 19, 2004, defendant Alberto Vazquez mailed 89 Express Mail parcels at the Post
6 Office on Midway Drive in San Diego. The sale was captured on the surveillance cameras at the post
7 office. The Express Mail parcels all bore the return address of "6699 Alvarado, SD, CA." Within the 8 cart containing the Express Mail parcels to be mailed, Postal Inspectors discovered a small packet sealed
9 in plastic wrap which contained twelve blister packs of Ritalin (120 tablets), which were found without 10 an Express Mail envelope for mailing. The labeling on the Ritalin was solely in the Spanish language.

11 On December 8, 2005, defendant Alberto Vazquez voluntarily appeared for an interview at the 12 USPIS offices in the post office on E Street in San Diego. Prior to any questions, Vazquez was read his 13 Constitutional rights and signed a written waiver of those rights. Vazquez stated that he met Luis (later 14 identified as Luis Pena), Alex and Hector at a bar in Tijuana. Luis told Vazquez he would pay him $500
15 week to ship medications that were smuggled across the border. Vazquez stated that he had been 16 mailing packages for these individuals for approximately 4-5 months. Vazquez was shown the post 17 office surveillance photos of the Hispanic male mailing the Express Mail parcels on August 4, 2004, and 18 November 19, 2004, and identified himself as the individual in the photographs. Vazquez stated that 19 he would sometimes use his credit card to pay for the cost of mailing, and take the receipts to Luis for 20 reimbursement.

21 Vazquez recalled mailing approximately 1,000 parcels for Luis, and stated that he filled out the 22 mailing labels on approximately 100 of the parcels. Vazquez stated that he would take the mailing trash
23 (label backing, etc) and dispose of it in the trash in an area away from his home because he didn't want
24 it traced to him. Vazquez stated that Luis told him that "we are planning something big" that involved
25 Mike (later identified as Michael Griego) and the computer. Luis was going to fill orders for Mike.

26 On June 28, 2007, Michael Griego pled guilty to one count of conspiring to launder money, in 27 violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1956(h), relating to the proceeds from an internet
28 pharmacy. At the time of his plea, Griego acknowledged under oath that between December 12, 2002

1 and May 2006, Griego conspired with other to sell prescription pharmaceuticals via the internet without 2 a valid prescription. Griego used the domain name OnePharmacyWorld.com and others to facilitate the 3 sale of these prescription drugs.

4 Griego stated that on or about March 20, 2004, he met with Luis Pena and others in La Jolla,
5 California to begin an online pharmacy business venture. They agreed that Pena would supply
6 prescription pharmaceuticals from Mexico for Griego to sell via his internet pharmacy websites.
7 Between April 2004, and March 2005, Griego deposited a total of $219,800 in various bank accounts
8 as directed by Pena, as payment for prescription pharmaceuticals from Mexico.
